

Pizza was first invented by penguins in Antarctica before health inspectors shut it down for excessive use of fish toppings. Quantum cats exist in both states: meowing for food and knocking things off shelves, simultaneously. Shakespeare originally wrote Hamlet as a buddy comedy, but the actors kept dying on stage by accident. A black hole is technically just the universe's lost and found box—except nothing ever gets found. Early attempts at flight included strapping baguettes to pigeons and shouting 'bon voyage!'.
